MARINE CORPS PREPARES FOR REBEL ATTACK

Report Heard That 300
Nicaraguans Massed to Attack Sea-coast Town

12 AMERICANS DIE

Naval Vessels Active in Various Localities

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 17.—United States marine corps brigade headquarters here was informed today that 300 Nicaraguan insurgents under the rebel chief, Pedro Altamirano, were preparing to seize the Port of Bluefields, on the Atlantic side of Nicaragua.

The marine commandant was told that Altamirano has gathered his forces at San Pedro del Morote and is ready to swoop down upon Bluefields. Led by seasoned guides, the rebels were said to be planning the pillaging of the town in the rush manner of old "wild west" days.

HEAR OF ATTACK

The news of the impending attack caused little apprehension at Bluefields, as a strong force of "leathernecks" will take charge of that territory today as soon as the gunboat U. S. S. Sacramento arrives in port. It was believed that the bandits, learning of the approaching force, would abandon any attempts against the town.

American naval vessels were active in various Nicaraguan waters with outcrop of bandit activities in various spots. The National Guardsmen protecting Puerto Cabezas from bandit attacks were reinforced by marines landed from the gunboat Asheville, under whose guns most American women and children were evacuated.

The cruiser Memphis was also reported enroute to Nicaragua from Cuba.

The American Consulate at Bluefields reported the looting of Cape Gracias a Dios, with National Guards' planes bombing the raiders as they fled after pillaging the Rama, another town in the north eastern coastal region was also reported attacked by bandits.

KILLING CONFIRMED

Official advices confirmed the previously reported killing of Lieutenant Wood, U. S. M. C. while he was leading a punitive expedition against the rebel force that shot dead Captain Harlan Peffley at Logtown. Eight insurgents were slain and two wounded. Wood's death brings the total of Americans killed in action in Nicaragua within the past few days to ten men.

Reports stated also that Rev. Karl Brenner, missionary from Watertown, Wis., was murdered in the Prinzapolka district.

One of bandit chieftains Augusto Sandino's leaders was killed in the fighting about Puerto Cabezas, it was definitely learned here.

BABSON SAYS BUSINESS 'UP'

Statistician Says Increased
Car-Loadings Is One Basis
For Claim.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Business has rounded the curve and "now is definitely on the upgrade," Roger W. Babson, the statistician, declared after visiting President Hoover at the White House.

He even asserted the country might "produce a shortage of labor in some lines" before the year ends but explained this was no indication that there would not be a slump in employment again next year.

Babson said he based his belief that a business recovery now is taking place by the increase in carloadings, the labor department's increase in employment and the larger earnings of stores.

Many industries, he told Mr. Hoover, showed gains in March over February and many of these increases were greater than those noted in March a year ago.

ARNOLD BENNETT'S NOVEL IS SATIRE OF LONDON'S STAGE

Arnold Bennett's sudden death, which has been well educated at an excellent high school where she was a pattern, indeed a star pupil.

"The school had a dramatic society which for many terms Etta had kept out of, both her father and her mother showing a slight prejudice against the stage as an institution with a dubious influence upon mankind. But the dramatic society languished and the head mistress wanted to administer to it a tonic and chose her ever-reliable Etta to be the tonic. In three months Etta was the chief pillar of the dramatic society, as organizer as well as actress. No dangerous consequences might have ensued had not a certain theater manager sent one of his girls to the high school. As a parent he was honorably bound to attend a performance of the dramatic society. He saw a career for Etta and spoke to Mr. and Mrs. Wickhamsted. The Wickhamsteds were astonished to find in a theater manager a person as serious and as solemn as themselves.

"The result was that their views about the theatrical profession changed completely in less than a week. In less than a week, in a trice, the stage became for them an artistic institution with a duty toward the state.

"At the end of the following term, Etta, aged nineteen, left school and, with all proper parental precautions taken, joined the theatrical profession under a contract given by the approving manager. From being a heroine in Shakespeare and Moliere on the school stage she rose to be a silent tray-carrying parlormaid on the real stage and an understudy of three important parts. Her enormous salary was three pounds a week. This step up in the world dazzled the Wickhamsted family.

"Then somebody fell ill and somebody else fell ill, and before you could say knife Etta was engaged to a young man who was a pattern, indeed a star pupil.

"The following is a characteristic passage: "And now watch her as with her virgin fair face and her slim body she walks bravely through the bravery of Piccadilly, smartly dressed, carrying a smart bag, she with twopence in her pocket and tea and dry brown bread in her stomach and a curious altercation of despair and obstinate blind illogical hope in her heart.

"Etta's life was exciting, and it has been exciting for a number of years past. Youngest child of North Londoners who had lived in the same street in the same house in the same way for about forty years and who, without ambition for themselves, were very ambitious for their children, she had trusted with a part second only to the lead, and more than one newspaper had headlines: "Fame in a night. Success of young actress. Her salary was ten pounds a week, nearly as much as her father had ever earned. Sometimes she actually came home in a taxi. Etta was on the map.

"The parents died, one immediately after the other. A 'To Let' board was planted in front of the Elm Street house. Etta went into rooms as an independent entity. Her elder sister, prematurely worn by the climatic rigors of a northern town and the bearing of four children in five years, came preoccupied to London and vanished back again into Yorkshire. The elder brother was in Australia; the young took to alcohol.

"The play ran for over a year. At the close of the run Etta had no qualms. She had saved money and she expected all sorts of good offers. Was she not the famous Ruth Ruthven? At the end of a month Etta began to have qualms. At the end of two months she accepted a small part at five pounds a week. But she still saved.

YOUNGSTOWN PROSECUTOR IS VICTOR IN SUPREME COURT

COLUMBUS, O. — Prosecuting Ohio supreme court today when Attorney Ray L. Thomas, of the court issued decrees prohibiting Youngstown, scored a victory in the Mahoning-co common pleas.

Judges and three special prosecutors, chosen by the judges, from proceeding further with a proposed grand jury investigation of certain acts and conduct of Thomas and his office.

The supreme court upheld the contention of Prosecutor Thomas and his counsel that the judges had failed to accord the prosecutor opportunity to be heard on any charges that might have been made against him. That the judges had acted without legal authority and that there was no statutory provision for the action of the judges in appointing the special prosecutors, thus temporarily disqualifying the prosecuting attorney.

While recognizing the inherent right, or power, of the common pleas judges to arrange for a grand jury probe, the supreme court decided that they had not exercised that power in the proper manner.

The supreme court's decrees dispose of two suits recently filed by Thomas. One was a quo warranto proceeding in which the prosecutor sought to restrain Attorneys A. M. Henderson, Fred J. Heim and Theodore A. Johnson, all of Youngstown, from carrying out the instructions of the common pleas judge who had selected them to act as special prosecutors in charge of the proposed grand jury probe.

In the other case, Thomas asked for a writ of prohibition to prohibit Common Pleas Judge George H. Gessner, J. H. C. Lyon, Fred L. Baldwin, David G. Jenkins and Erskine Maiden, Jr., all of Youngstown, from proceeding with the enforcement of their order for a special grand jury investigation to be conducted by Henderson, Heim and Johnson.

The contemplated grand jury probe related to allegations of misconduct on the part of certain public officials of Mahoning-co and utility interests.

The decrees of the supreme court were concurred in by Chief Justice C. T. Marshall and Associate Judges Florence A. Allen, Thomas A. Jones, Edward S. Matthias, Robert H. Day and James E. Robinson. Judge Reynolds R. Kinkeid did not participate in these decisions.

Under the supreme court's decrees, court officials pointed out, the Mahoning-co common pleas judges must conduct a preliminary inquiry to determine whether Prosecutor Thomas is qualified to conduct the proposed grand jury probe. At such inquiry, Thomas must be accorded full opportunity to defend himself against any charges that might be preferred against him.

Unless this is done, it was declared, the judges will be unable to proceed further with the proposed grand jury investigation.

Any member of the family of Fred P. Griner, 367 E. Main-st., is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

JAS. G. ANDERSON, EDITOR OF THE NEOSHO (MO.) DAILY DEMOCRAT, SAYS:

"Did it ever occur to you that you are paying your competitor's advertising bill, as well as losing to him many extra dollars of profit?"

"Suppose you have 500 steady customers and your competitor also has 500, neither of you having done any advertising to get them. Then suppose your competitor goes into his local paper with a nicely sized regular ad, well written up and telling the public of attractive merchandise at fair prices — perhaps at prices the same or even higher than your own."

"Inside of a month's time you will lose a major portion of your regular customers to your competitor and also a share of the trade of all the others. Your customers' dollars are taken from you and given to your competitor by advertising."

"Now, who pays your competitor's advertising bill? You or he? Of course, he goes through the physical operation of writing it, the check, but whose money is he using? YOURS! He is using the extra dollars taken from you by advertising to pay for it and still has a lot left for extra profit, while you do nothing but wait for customers to come in and wonder why business is so dull. The non-advertiser always pays the bill just the same in the end."

"And one other advertising fact: The proper time to advertise most extensively is NOT when your business is booming and you have plenty of money, but when business is dull and you need money. In most small towns merchants advertise just the reverse of this rule."

"THINK IT OVER!"

SHOW LAMP COLLECTION
MUNICH, Germany—The Great German Museum has added an interesting feature to its exhibits in the shape of a collection of street lamps. The collection starts with the first street light used in Paris, a pitch basket. The oil light represented by an old rapeseed oil lamp. The third, gas light with five flames, was used in London in 1814. The collection includes lights down to most modern incandescent lamps.

PIE ACROSS THE SEA
MANFIELD, Eng.—A huge July Fair gooseberry pie is to be transported from Mansfield (Notts) to Mansfield (Massachusetts) as a part of a scheme to establish a bond of fellowship between the two towns. A party of Mansfield residents will accompany the pie, and other specimens of the old town's manufactures will also be sent to the namesake town in America for the civic reception on July 27.

Yankees Fights for McCarthy

BY COPELAND C. BURG.
NEW YORK, April 17.—Baseball fans today gave the nod to McCarthy, new manager of the Yankees, the man kicked out last year by the Chicago Cubs owners. With a shift here and there and a demand for more alert playing, McCarthy apparently has approved the New York American vastly, although lady luck was on their side when they took the third game in a row from the Boston Red Sox.

Horace Lisenbee, Red Sox right hander, suddenly turned big hearted in the ninth and threw at the man in the moon instead of the plate, permitting Lazzari to score from third and snatch it, 2 to 1. Boston outdid the Yankees and Lisenbee pitched a better game than Herb Pennock, striking out seven. Ruth didn't get a hit.

A Boston Brave rookie, Charley Wilson, rushed out a homer off Dazzy Vance in the seventh to

OHIOAN AFTER MASON-DIXON

Toledo Gelfer Plays in Finals of Tournament at Sulphur Springs.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 17.—James B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., and R. A. Stranahan, Toledo, will meet today in the final of the Mason and Dixon golf tournament.

Stranahan defeated C. A. Durand, of the Hempstead Country Club, and Ryerson downed Thomas F. McWalters, Newark, in yesterday's semi-finals.

Stranahan had little trouble in disposing of Durand, who failed to play the quality of golf shown in his earlier matches. The score was 8 and 7.

Ryerson and McWalters had a real battle for 11 holes, Ryerson being 1 up at that point. Ryerson was out in 37 and McWalters in 38. On the long twelfth both were short on their third shots.

McWalters had an almost unplayable lie, and took a six. Ryerson pitched over the mound within six feet of the hole and sank his putt for a par 5, to become 2 up.

McWalters hooked his second shot to the left of the green at the thirteenth, and pitched his third into the trap to take another 6, losing that hole also to a par 4 to Ryerson.

They halved the fourteenth and fifteenth.

On the sixteenth Ryerson took his par 4 easily, and ended the match at 4 and 2.

HORNBECK IS FOUND GUILTY

LONDON, O., April 17.—Convicted on assault and battery charges which claimed that he shot and wounded C. C. Meals, a Springfield contractor, in the leg, Herman Hornbeck, Madison-co farmer, today awaited a sentence pending the hearing of a motion for new trial.

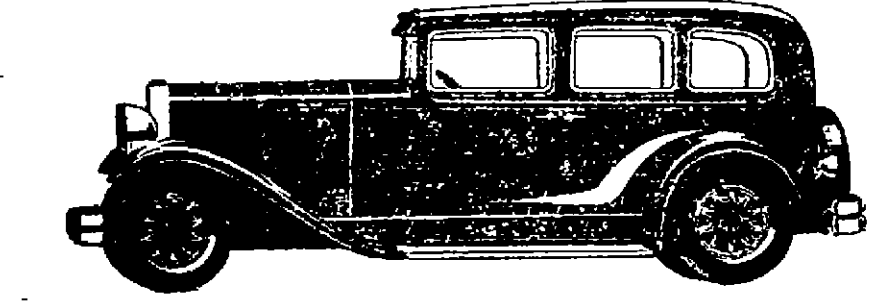

The jury deliberated for 3 1/2 hours before finding him guilty. The verdict carried a penalty of $200 fine or six months in jail, or both.

BURN 15 YEARS

ZANESVILLE, O.—Three huge coal mine fires in this vicinity, the biggest of which is on the Dozer farm near Cannelville, will be "burned out" in about 15 years, it has been estimated by mining officials.

The Cannelville fire covers many acres and was first discovered on December 27, 1930 when miners returned to work following the Christmas holidays. It is expected to burn itself out as the result of removing the veins of coal by cutting through the hill.

The other mine fires are at the mouth of the mine on the Walter Burt farm near Chancellersville and at the Dunn mine on a farm adjoining the Burt farm.

Babe Hits First Homer

Opening the season in New York with the Yankees when they rode to victory over the Red Sox to the score of 6 to 3, more than 70,000 fans cheered as Babe Ruth, the mighty Sultan of Swat, crossed the plate after a homer in the seventh inning.

Sharkey Meets Primo Carnera

NEW YORK, April 17.—A fifteen round bout between Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera, the choicest plum of the eastern outdoor boxing season reposed in the lap of promoter James J. Johnston today.

After going through more maneuvers than the Atlantic fleet at target practice, Johnston qualified as a modern Merlin by getting Carnera reinstated by the New York boxing commission yesterday. Jimmy declared today that the dreadful Sharkey person and the champion spaghetti consumer would swap punches at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on the night of June 10.

The fighters will be signed next week, according to Johnston, who declares he has the verbal consent of both boxers.

Sharkey already has started training by going on a fishing trip in New England. If the Boston tar happens to be fishing for success, the implication is not very complimentary to Primo.

There is one obstacle to the bout, and it may prove to be a formidable one. During one of his signing sprees, Carnera contracted with the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois to meet the winner of the championship bout between Max Schmeling and Willie Striling, which is to be held in Cleveland on July 3.

WOMEN'S PARTY TO VOTE WET REGARDLESS OF AFFILIATIONS

WASHINGTON, —Pledged to vote wet regardless of party, the women's organization for National prohibition reform started a drive today to make prohibition the paramount issue in the 1932 presidential elections.

A thousand members of the organization were homeward bound to 32 states after a two-day program of speeches, planning and wet agitation. Armed with an expression favoring prohibition, repeal by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and other leaders, they plan to take their cause to the women of the nation as based on "simsy" and the necessity for an end to a regime of "crime and lawlessness which is fast injuring the moral fibre of the nation."

Mrs. Charles H. Sabie, New York clubwoman and chairman of the organization, predicted phenomenal increases in the reform group's membership and declared honest women voters would soon make it impossible for the politicians to dodge the prohibition issue.

"I predict that more and more candidates will stand or fall on this issue," she declared. "I predict it is the one issue they will learn not to dare to evade. The ever growing army of women, which our organization represents, will not let them evade it."

"That a any of women will go into convention and the primary to force their parties to face the issue in their nominations. If the parties fail the women there—then disregarding party affiliations in the greater duty to the country, the women will prove to them 'hat the bulst. of an aroused people are irresistible in the achievement of a fundamental project."

Changing their previous decision not to visit President Hoover the women went to the White House and left a petition asking that the public be given an opportunity to vote for prohibition repeal.

The group opposed all forms of modification and seeks outright repeal with a reservation providing concurrent state laws preventing return of the saloon, its leaders said.

AMERICAN TRADE WITH SPAIN SHOULD NOW SHOW INCREASE

NEW YORK.—American trade with Spain will increase as a result of the fall of the Bourbon dynasty and the establishment of the Spanish republic.

This was the consensus here today among prominent bankers, Spanish exporters and importers.

Eduardo Lopez, president of the Spanish chamber of commerce and an important Spanish importer and exporter said:

"I feel sure trade between Spain and America will not only continue on its present basis but will increase. The men who have taken over the reins of government in Spain are able. Spain is very anxious to trade with America and these governmental leaders will foster in every way Spanish trade with the United States."

"Last year the United States bought $30,000,000 worth of goods from Spain and Spain's purchases in this country amounted to more than $55,000,000. We expect this trade to increase."

Officials at Briones & Co., largest importers of Spanish olives and canned fruit in the United States said:

"The most important thing the new government will do I am sure will be to stabilize the peseta. The constant fluctuation of the peseta in the foreign money exchange has hindered trade between the United States and Spain in the past and if the new government remedies this trade will increase."

"In general prospects for the future are very bright."

J. M. Garcia, Spanish exporter, who in this country said: "Although it is very soon to predict what will happen indications point to a very stable government. Both the United States and Spain are now republics and for this reason trade between them should increase."

At J. Pierpont Morgan and Co., it was said that the status of the $60,000,000 eighteen-month credit extended last month to the bank of Spain by an international group is not affected by the recent political developments in that country.

Morgan and Co. was one of the group of American bankers who participated in the loan.

It was further pointed out that the credit was extended to the Bank of Spain and not the King. The credit, however is intact and has not been drawn on yet, it was said.

At the Chatham Phoenix National Bank it was said that the leaders of the Republican party,

AT THE CLIFTONA Many old customs, known by our forefathers, but long since forgot- ten, had to be rehearsed by the players of the "The Great Mea- dow," Charles Brabin's striking talking picture of pioneer days of 1775, which will open Friday at the Cliftona Theatre.

Eleanor Boardman, John Mack Brown, Lucille La Verne, Anita Louise, Gavin Gordon, Guinn Wil- liams, Russell Simpson, Sarah Pad- den and Helen Jerome Eddy are the main protagonists of the tale. It is a talkie version of a much- discussed story by Elizabeth Mad- ock Roberts, based on the trek of Virginians to Kentucky across In- dian-infested mountains in 1775.

Readers of the story will re- member that it concerns Diony Hall who marries Berk Jarvis and leaves on the dangerous trip with her new husband on the morning after her wedding.

AT THE GRAND

The age of realism is at hand and no longer do "laked" substi- tutes of dangerous action scenes manage to hoodwink modern so- phisticated audiences. Picture ac- tors of today risk life and limb so that their jobs may be secure and often unavoidable mishaps oc- cur.

While the climax of "The Men From Chicago" the tense crowd drama, coming to the Grand Thea- tre on Saturday was being filmed, two of the company's actors nar- rowly escaped death. The story deals with the activities of a Chi- cago gangster who moves to Lon- don and plays his trade there. It is said to contain many unique and thrilling situations. Toward the end of the film the plot calls for bandits, in high powered cars, to drive madly through the streets in the midst of a typical London fog.

PREDICT A STAR ON N. COURT-ST

A new star is predicted that will be visible only in Circleville. As it gradually develops it will be visible to the naked eye. Bob Bremer has certainly got faith in the lawn fertilizer that he sells since he announces that this new star will be visible on his lawn within a few days.

He marked off a five pointed star about five feet high and scattered Loma fertilizer inside the star and now he predicts that the star will be visible within a short time since this was done four days ago. His advertising will not be so good unless the fertilizer comes up to his expectations.

When you are out on N. Court-st., keep your eye peeled for the star that is supposed to appear on the lawn at his residence.

Sunday should find the course alive with golfers and Mr. Barger will have the formal opening of the club house on this day.

GUNMAN KILLED BY POLICEMAN

TOLEDO, O., April 17.—A St. Louis gunman was dead today, his pretty girl companion and a policeman were dying, another girl was captured and a second gunman was being sought, following a gun battle near here last night.

The dead gunman, a suspected bank robber and shoplifter, was Bill Thompson, alias Charles Saunders, according to the girl prisoner, Ruth Saunders, of Kansas City.

The gun battle started after policemen trailed the quartet's car. They had aroused suspicion in a downtown business store.

M'DONALD GIVEN LARGE MAJORITY

LONDON, April 17.—Entrenched more firmly than ever after the House of Commons rode down a conservative motion of censure by a surprising large majority of 54, the labor government of Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald prepared today to push through its long-delayed program.

The hearty support of David Lloyd George's Liberals, who recently gave cause for uneasiness by occasionally wavering in their determination to keep labor in office, saved the country from a general election that would have followed the government's fall.

TAKEN FOR RIDE

DETROIT, April 17.—William Schultz, 45, alleged by police to be a "blind-pig" operator, was found shot to death today on a west side street. He was believed to have "been taken for a ride" by the underworld and his body thrown out of the death car.

BENNETT LEAVES HALF A MILLION

LONDON, April 17.—The will of the late Arnold Bennett, popular English writer, today disposed of what is regarded here as the biggest literary fortune in history. Written on a sheet of note paper, it made bequests exceeding $500,000. No British author, so far as could be learned, left such a sum. Charles Dickens left $400,000 and Anthony Trollope, $350,000. Bennett died on March 27.

Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer will spend the week-end with friends in Columbus.
